JUDGMENT

These connected cases are filed by low tension consumers of electricity challenging common order produced as Ext.P2 in W.P.(C) No.33904/2006 issued by the Secretary, KSEB reducing penal charges for unauthorised load at two times the rate applicable under clause 42(d) of the Conditions of Supply of Electrical Energy as against three times provided therein. The petitioners admittedly had additional unauthorised load during inspection conducted by APTS and penal bills were raised charging three times for fixed charges and three times for proportionate current charges originally. However, the levy was contested in appeal and in this court. In between, the Board issued order on 18.9.2002 amending clause 42(d) thereby limiting the penal charges only on fixed charges and not on proportionate current charges. The effective date of amendment was 18.9.2002. In other words, violations noticed prior to 18.9.2002 were subject to penal charges under the provision that originally existed. This was challenged in Writ Petition and the same was allowed by Single Judge. However, in Writ Appeal, judgment of which is produced as Ext.P1 in the abovereferred W.P.(C), the Division Bench upheld the prospective amendment and held that penal bills could be raised under the unamended provisions for any period prior to the date of amendment. However, in the said judgment this court observed that maximum penalty is not called for in cases of technical violation and individual cases have to be considered by the KSEB. On going through Ext.P2 judgment it is clear that this court expected the KSEB to reduce the penal charges wherever mitigating circumstances existed. In fact, the levy of penal charges provided under clause 42(d) is for six months prior to the date of detection but such penal charge could be imposed for a lesser period only on party establishing that additional load was used for lesser period than six months prior to detection. Even though the remand order by the Division Bench does not give any guidelines, probably there may be mitigating circumstance for reducing penalty such as the quantum of unauthorised load in relation to the connected load, the applications if any filed by consumers for regularisation of additional load at the time of detection and the like. I do not want to exhaustively deal with the circumstances that may entitle parties for lesser penal charges. In any case I am in agreement with the contention of the petitioners that when the court orders matter to be considered with reference to facts of each case, the Secretary of the Board is not justified in issuing a common order applicable to all the parties irrespective of the circumstances in which they are placed, even though the order to some extent is favourable to all parties uniformly. The specific facts of each case have to be separately considered and reduction if any has to be granted only with reference to the mitigating facts available in each case. In the circumstances, Ext.P2 which is the common order issued to all the petitioners is vacated with direction to the Secretary, KSEB to reconsider the case of waiver of each applicant with reference to facts available in each case after giving an opportunity to substantiate their case with facts and circumstances warranting reduction. I make it clear that the Secretary should pass individual orders in each case with reference to facts and grounds raised by the parties after hearing them. The Secretary is directed to pass separate orders after hearing parties and after referring to findings in mahazar within six weeks from the date of production of copy of this judgment. No recovery should be effected until revised orders are issued.

The W.Ps. are disposed of as above.
